

Overnight crashes on Interstate 20 in Dallas due to Ice

Posted by Sumit | November 14, 2018

Water turned into ice overnight on some of the roads of Dallas and caused some major problems as well.

À

The roads looked dry early in the morning today with some damp iced over. The drivers riding through Interstate 20 found it difficult to drive safely through the road.

À

After two vehicles hit, deputies closed the ramp on eastbound I-20 at Spur 408. Thankfully, no one was hurt when the vehicles hit.

The roads are now back to normal and open for public still caution is advised in case of slick spots.