

Cold and wet weather doesn't stop diehard Dallas Marathon runners

Posted by Sumit | December 09, 2018

Cold and wet weather in North Texas yesterday didn't stop dedicated marathon runners. Thousands of people came to prepare for their first day of the 2-day event in the BMW Dallas Marathon irrespective of the harsh weather conditions.

À

Sameer Paroo said that the weather is nuts and he couldn't take out his hands out of warmer but he was ready for the race. Diana Chavez, another runner said that she is full-packed with three layers of jackets, a couple of layers of socks and all set to run.

À

This year, cold and wet weather did not deter runners. It was really a challenging experience, especially for the kids.
