Both of them were twinning in black and white attire carrying their luggage in hand as they stepped out of the airport. Anushka looked pretty cool in her striped black dress paired with white sneakers. Virat, on the other hand, looked uber cool in his black tee paired with grey joggers and shoes.

Anushka went to England to support and cheer for her husband and Indian cricket team. India lost playing against New Zealand in the semi-final by 18 runs.

Earlier, some pictures went viral wherein both of them were seen hanging out on the streets of London.
