Except for Uda Punjab, which featured Bebo in an integral role, Alia Bhatt has never been part of a multi-heroine project and never been seen on big screen with this concept. However, she has a desire to do so. The actress says, "I've never been offered such a movie. I haven't rejected a film because it was a two-heroine outing. Instead, I want to do something which has only women. I think we will have amazing camaraderie and it will be a fun film." Alia spoke about having a pact made with Katrina and Deepika on doing a film together.

She further added, "Katrina Kaif is one of my closest friends, so we keep talking about doing a film. It's the same with Deepika Padukone. It will be amazing to act in a movie with such powerful women. I've made a pact with Kat and DP that we will do films together."
