Sonam Kapoor and Deepika Padukone are the most-talked-about actresses that are growing and climbing the ladder of the success day by day. Sonam Kapoor promised to be present at the screening of Deepika Padukone starrer, Padmaavat but she failed to appear on the special screening day. Whether her rivalry with Deepika Padukone, one of the finest actresses from the Indian film industry is the reason for Sonam Kapoor's absence?

Sonam Kapoor no doubt, shares an excellent relation with the director of the film, Sanjay Leela Bhansali. He was the man who gave her the first chance of her life by giving her the shot in Indian Bollywood.

Sonam Kapoor confessed that she has been loyal throughout her film, Pad Man. Although the film failed to get as much attention as Padmaavaat. Some of the impacts of Republic Day was also responsible for the downfall of the film.

According to the news received from the leakers, the actress Sonam Kapoor did not attend the screening despite promising the director, Sanjay Leela Bhansali that she would turn up. She did endorse anti-Padmaavaat letter released by Swara Bhasker at the time when she had not even watched the film.

As per some indoor leakers, this is just one side of the story and the remaining one is yet to come. Surprisingly, Om Shanti Om starring Deepika Padukone and Saawariya starring Sonam Kapoor were also released the same day. Now the history is repeating itself and the both of the actresses playing the lead roles in the film, Pad Man and Padmaavat are on the verge of popularity because no one knows which movie might excel in the film industry.
